

Epson Sponsors Laserfiche Workshops on Enterprise Content Management

April 28, 2015

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 28, 2015 – Epson America, Inc., a leading provider of digital imaging solutions, has joined forces with Laserfiche, the world's largest privately held enterprise content management (ECM) software company, to sponsor a series of ECM workshops hosted by Laserfiche value added resellers (VARs).

The workshops offer end users tools and best practices for improving efficiency by leveraging Laserfiche ECM and Epson document scanner solutions to:

- Save employee time and reduce storage costs by eliminating paper-based activities
- Accelerate core business processes like accounts payable, contract management and customer service activities
- Ensure records security and compliance with embedded auditing features

“Epson document scanners are built to deliver the speed, flexibility and high image quality businesses require to increase productivity,” said Larry Trevarthen, director, Business Imaging, Epson America, Inc. “Together, we can offer new document management methods to VAR partners, and educate potential customers on the remarkable improvements available when integrating Laserfiche’s top-tier ECM solutions and Epson hardware into their workflow.”

“As a company, we believe in empowering our VARs to make a difference,” said Hedy Belttary, Vice President of Sales at Laserfiche. “Epson’s workshop incentive program is a tremendous value-add for this community. It will enable them to deliver more educational ECM workshops to organizations that can benefit from going paperless and automating business processes.”

The ECM workshops are designed to help organizations in various industries including education, finance, government and healthcare make smarter, faster decisions with the right information at the right times.
